IN MEMORY OF C. A. MOORE One year ago today, July 18, there was laid to rest in the burial ground near Beckham one of the best fathers that God ever blessed with a family, Cornelius A. Moore. The memory of his kindness, love and sympathy will remain with his wife and children as long as life shall last.

Each day something calls to memory of some kindness He has done. To make life's burdens easier Or some other friend he won't.

The last days he was with us. He seemed with patience to wait. For God to send His angel To open for him the gates.

When the death angel came. He gave one last long sigh. And left his friends and loved one For his mansions in the sky.

We would not call the long day parted. Anchored safe where storms are over. On the border lines we left him Soon to meet, to part no more when we leave this world of sorrow.

When we leave this world of care. We know there will find our loved one there. —Wife and Children.
